THE EVENING STAR.

Ere the twilight duskier grew,
Lavish day o'er the hill summit drew
Her spread splendor, unspent, to the west;
Slowly, then, in the fathomless deep
Of the luminous sky asleep,
It evanished beyond any quest.

And the purple mountains vast,
When the glory of sunset had past,
In stern silence hung over the land,
And toward up in the sky
Like a life's ambition; and high
On their flank burned a fire like a brand.

Then the air that had glowed thro' and thro'
With the light, became changed to a blue
Dome of steel at the coming of night,
And the wind which had driven his flocks
To their pasture on loftier rocks
Quickly sank, faint and tired of flight.

And the sounds of the day were dead,
And the hush of the twilight spread
Till existence awaited, aware
Of a coming, a new avatar
Of its spirit, ancar or afar,
A presence unknown that was fair!

Where the mountain's profile throws
A billowy line, there uprose
Through the tremulous ether a star!
From its nest in the loftiest crest,
Where it had hidden unguessed,
Uprose and outshone the fair star!

CLOUD FANCIES.

Billows of clouds, like foam of the sea,
Surging and drifting in blue expanse;
Mountains of clouds, piled high and free—
Armies of clouds, in a swift advance.

Far o'er that distant and lovely space,
I see them parting—I see them meet;
And then I think of an eager race,
Of white-sailed ships in a dainty fleet.

And now they form in a bright array,—
Castles of marble all fair and white;
With tower and turret, where shadows gray
Seem ever losing themselves in light.

When sunset falls, and the clouds that wait
Are rosy tinted o'er cloth of gold,
I know that somewhere a pearly gate
Was left ajar when the day grew old.

That Golden Curl.

Perry Dayton sat in his stuffy little office, busily glancing over a heap of letters which that morning's post had brought for the establishment of Messrs. Park and Haily. He came to one addressed in a peculiarly dainty feminine hand, and opened it with a little more curiosity than he had designed to bestow upon the others.

"Enclosed please find —— invisible hair net —— color of hair sent. Address Miss Ella Terrell, Oakhaven," etcetera.

"Miss Ella Terrell has very lovely hair," thought the young man, examining the long curl attentively. It was golden brown, and shone radiantly in the beams of sunlight which at that particular moment came pouring in at the little window. "Perhaps, though, it is not her own hair."

However he laid the letter and soft coil aside, resolving to match that invisible net himself.

It was very strange, but a vision of a young lady with golden brown hair would keep intruding itself between his eyes and the remaining letters. Sometimes brown eys accompanied the hair, sometimes blue. Now it was a petite figure—again "divinely tall and most divinely fair."

Having skimmed over them all he betook himself to that compartment of the establishment devoted to such articles as the one required. Box after box he examined, and turned away dissatisfied. He began to dispair. Here was the identical one at last. He carried it in triumph to the office and began to write:—

"I have, my dear Miss Ella, at last found one to match your beautiful curl. I hope——"

"What bosh I am writing! Why, Perry, old boy, you're clean gone!" he exclaimed, tossing the offending missive in the waste basket.

Enclosing the article in a wrapper, he addressed it, and laid it with similar parcels on a shelf, at the same time consigning the curl to his vest pocket.

"Of course you are aware, Mr. Dayton, that someone must go north shortly to attend to that business in Liverpool; and as we have found you faithful in the dissharge of your duties, and place the utmost confidence in your judgement, Mr. Haily and myself have decided that you are the one to go."

Thus spoke the senior partner, coming into the office where Perry was sitting. This happened a few months later. Perry's beaming face fully expressed his appreciation of this mark of esteem.

He was to start in two days. This was Thursday. The next Wednesday morning found our friend taking breakfast at the "Adelphia Hotel," Liverpool. The business would probably keep him there a month or so. He had plenty of leisure time, and devoted it to viewing the sights.

One evening he entered the office of a young fellow connected with the business house of Park and Haily. and found him making an elaborate toilette.

Why this unusual and unnatural regard for thy appearance, O Trevelyn?" he exclaimed advancing into the room where his friend stood.

"I am going to a party. Don't you want to come?"

"Yes. Where is it?"

"At Old Swan, four miles away. We will take a cab at eight precisely."

Trevelyn was well known and liked at Old Swan. He had lived there several years, and so it was that Perry was presented to some of the nicest people in the place.

He was talking with Mrs. Langdon when he discovered that Trevelyn was dancing with a pretty young lady. She had dark eyes, a small oval face, and was dressed in some airy, floating material. But her hair attracted his attention particularly. It reminded him of a curly lock which he had carried about for several months. And then she wore an invisible net, which was probable what caused him to remember that other lock.

"Don't you agree with me, Mr. Dayton?"

"Oh, yes, indeed!" he said having not the slightest idea of what Mrs. Langdon was talking about.

The waltz came to an end at last, and the two found their way to where our friends were seated.

"Won't you introduce me to the fair dancer?" Dayton asked at the earliest opportunity.

"Was Miss Terrell engaged for the next dance?" A glance at a dainty programme proved the contrary. "Might he have the pleasure?"

"Yes."

What a delightful turn that was! Dayton had never enjoyed anything so much. He had some thought of telling Miss Terrell that a lock of that mass of wavy hair was at that moment lodged in his pocket. A propituous fate permitted him to dance again with her duriug the evening, and even to accompany their party to supper

The next day Trevelyn and Dayton called to pay their respects at the Terrell mansion. This was not the last time. And then Perry fell into the habit of going without Trevelyn. The weeks slipped quietly, and at length Perry discovered that he was madly, wildly, hopelessly in love with the fair owner of the fateful net.

One day there was to be a picnic. Nature exerted herself to the utmost on this particular occasion. No one had ever experienced a more delightfully pure atmosphere. How fresh everything looked!—how sweetly the birds sang! A winding road through the trees led them at length to just the sort of place they were looking for. Then came the bustle of alighting and collecting the baskets, and all sat down for a general chat before going off in exploring parties.

The delights of picnics were being warmly discussed, when a gray-clad gentleman on horseback was seen approaching through the trees at one side.

He seemed in nowise discomfited by numerous pairs of eyes bent upon him.

"Why, Reggy, where did you come from?" cried Miss Ella, prettily; while the pater et mater shook him warmly by the hand.

"I found myself able to be with you earlier than I expected. They told me you were all booked for the day, so I determined to follow suit."

"It is so nice that you happened to come on this particular day! We are going to have such a nice day!" said Mrs. Terrell.

"I'm not so sure of that," soliloquized Dayton, gloomily, remarking how pleased Ella seemed at the advent of this stranger.

"Mr. Dayton—Mr. Greydon," came at last; and our friend found the keen, gray eyes giving him a searching look during the process of a graceful bow.

"I think Princess would thank me for a drink of water."

And Greydon proceeded to lead the handsome animal to the stream a few steps off.

Ella, excusing herself gracefully, accompanied Mr. Greydon. Already daggers of jealously seemed piercing Dayton's heart.

"When is the wedding to come off?" he heard someone ask Mrs. Terrell.

"Then they are engaged! Why didn't someone tell me before I made such an utter fool of myself?" he groaned.

Everyone thought this precise moment a suitable time for exploring tours and seperated into groups.

The poor fellow wandered off by himself, he did not care whither. His brain seemed on fire. He was desperately in love. Why had she always seemed so pleased to see him? He had thought so differently of her! What an idiot he was to go on loving the girl! One who could act so falsely was not worthy of his affection. These were some of his excited thoughts.

He would go back. He would show her that this stranger's presence made not the slightest difference to him.

He turned hastily and discovered that he had wandered some distance.

Arrived at the spot, he found Miss Ella, evidently much fatigued, alone.

He approached, and made a remark about the weather. O commonplace young man!

"I was just wishing for someone to come, and had a vague idea that the nymph of the stream might venture to show herself if no one else appeared," she said languidly fanning her flaming cheeks.

"I will retire in favor of the nymph."

"No; I would rather see you now, having no energy left for the contemplation of naiads."

Dayton's face lighted up for an instant, and then resumed its gloomy expression.

"Mr. Greydon has gone, and I suppose everyone else is off enjoying themselves," continued Ella.

"I thought Mr. Greydon was a fixture; had come on purpose to see you—that is ——"

"Dear me, no!" laughed Ella. "He is on his way to my Aunt Hattie's, who lives in Liverpool. He is to marry my cousin in August, and only stopped here to consult papa about something."

"Miss Terrell—Ella—dear Ella! I have been such a fool!"

Of course no right-minded person would like to intrude on the conversation which followed; suffice it to say that two weddings came off in August instead of one, and one happy pair consisted of Ella Terrell and Mr. Perry Dayton.

Four Wealthy Women.

Some of the very rich women of New York have many peculiarities. Mrs. Stewart, for instance, never opens her front windows, and she goes out driving so seldom that even the neighbors on the adjoining block do not know her. She is a sincere Christian, beheving more firmly in the English Church than any other, and yet worshiping more to suit her own quiet taste than according to any set tenets of faith. She does not care for personal appearence and does not dress half so neatly as her servants. She walks out of pleasant afternons twice or thrice a week, and while always accompanied at a respectful distance by a strong manservant, she looks so commonplace that not one of the multitude are aware that she is the richest widow in the world. Mrs. Steward always carries goodly sized coins for beggars.

Miss Wolfe differs from Mrs. Steward in this respect: When she meets a beggar she must know his or her references before doing anything of a substantial nature. It is a very difficult matter to fix the age of Miss Wolfe. She is no longer young and yet she does not look old. She possesses a face of the type which never ages. There is a story about her having loved a brave fellow some years ago, and that he passed away before the day agreed upon for their wedding, and when he was buried her heart also was put away in the tomb. It is a pretty romance, all devotion, nothing but truth and pureness, and she now devotes her life to charity.

Mrs. Goelet, like her late husband, is of a retiring disposition. For intervals of weeks she will remain closely at home, out to all callers, and then again she will be seen at every place of note in the city. Her jewels are said to be the finest private collection in the country. The Goelets were always a curious family.

But the most sensible and attractive of the rich ladies of New York whom this article has called to mind is Mrs. Marshall O. Roberts. The widow of a mining king, intelligent, cultured and handsome, she, with $8,000,000 in her own right, numbers her suiters by the dozen. Some time ago, it will be readily recalled, the goesips said that she proposed to enter the White House as the wife of Arthur and its mistress. According to an informant of mine, Mrs. Roberts, when the story came to her ears, burst into crying as though her heart would break, pronounced it false and supplemented it with the statement that she would never again go to the altr a as an expectant bride. She is the centre of a social circle of brave men and women, does a great deal in aid of literature and art, and is well known to the poor of the Five Points and the east side.

THE NEW MORMAN TEMPLE.—The main walls of the new temple of the Mormans in Salt Lake, have been completed within the past week. The first stone was laid twenty eight years ago. The material is granite, like Maine granite, full of shining mica necks and is hauled from the mountains back of Salt Lake with oxen on enormous wagons with wheels twelve feet high. The walls are exceedingly thick—ten feet—and the height is eighty-five feet. The cost to date, paid by tithings, has been $4,500,000, and six more years of work will be required to complete the structure. It has come to stay, whether Mormanism has or not, and it has been predicted that some day the Senate of Utah, redeemed and purged of polygamy, will own it and use it for a capitol.

That Bad Boy.

"When pa and I got to Chicago," said the bad boy, "we walked around town all day and went to the stores, and he put me to bed in the tavern and went out to walk around and get rested. I wasn't tired and I walked about the hotel. I thought pa had gone to the theatre, and that made me mad, and I thought I would pay him for all I was worth. Our room was 213 and the next room was 212, and there was an old maid with a Scotch terrier occupied 212. I saw her twice as she called me names, 'cause she thought I wanted to steal her dog. That made me mad with her, so I took my jack-knife and drew the tacks out of the tin thing that the numbers were painted on, and put the old maid's number on our door, and then I went to bed. I tried to keep awake so as to help pa if he had any difficulty, but I rather guess I got to sleep, but woke up when the dog barked. If the dog had not woke me up the woman's screames would, and if that had'nt pa would. You see, pa came home from the theatre about 12, and he had been drinking. He says everybody drinks when they go to Chicago, even the minister. Pa looked at the number on the doors, all along the hall till he found 212, and he walked right in and pulled off his coat and threw it on the lounge, where the dog was. The old maid was asleep, but the dog barked, and pa said, 'that cussed boy has bought a dog!' and the old maid woke up and said, 'What is the matter with you, pet?' Pa laffed and said, 'Nuthin' the mazzer with me, pet,' and then you ought to have heard the yelling. The old maid covered her head and kicked and yelled, and the dog snarled and bit pa on the pants, and pa had his vest off and his suspenders unbuttoned, and he got scared and took his coat and vest and went out into the hall, and I opened the door and told pa he was in the wrong room and I knowed it, and he came in our room and I locked the door, and the bell-boy and the clerks came to see what ailed the old maid, and she said a burglar got in her room, and they found pa's hat on the lounge, and they took it and told her to be quiet, and that they would find the burglar.

Pa was so scared that he sweat like everything, and the bed was offul warm, and he pretended to go to sleep, but he was wondering how he could get his hat back. In the morning I told him it would be hard work to explain it to ma how he happened to get in the wrong room, and he said it wasn't necessary to say anything about it to ma. Then he gave me five dollars to go and buy him a new hat, and he said I might keep the change if I would not mention it when I got home, and I got him one for ten shillings, and we took the eight o'clock train in the morning and came home, and I s'pose the Chicago detectives are trying to fit pa's hat on a burglar. Pa seemed offully relieved when he got across the State line into Wisconsin; but you'd a died to see him come out of that old lady's room with his coat and vest on his arm and his suspenders hanging down looking scart. He darsent lick me any more, or I'll tell ma where pa left his hat.

Matches in Cotton.

The Corriere Mercantile of Genoa, asserts that large importers of American cotton in that city have found match-boxes, and even handfuls of matches, artfully dispersed here and there inside the bales, with evident intention of setting the cotton on fire, through the action of that development of heat which is often caused by the cotton being insufficiently dried before it is packed.

Locking the Tower.

The locking up of the Tower of London at night is one of the cumbersome old cermonies still in use. A few minutes before the clock strikes eleven, the porter with an attendant, appears before the main guard house, carrying a lantern, and calls on 'Escort Keys.' The guard, supplied always from the Queen's household troops, then turns out and escorts 'Keys' outer gate, called the 'Spur,' each sentry challenging as they pass his post. 'Who goes there?' 'Keys.' After the gates are securely locked and barred the procession returns, the sentries exacting the same explanation as before. When they come in front of the main guard house the sentry stationed there gives a loud stamp on the ground with his foot and demands 'Who goes there?' 'Keys.' 'Whose keys?' 'Queen Victoria's keys.' 'Pass Queen Victorie's keys and all's well.' The porter then calls out, 'God bless Queen Victoria!, to which the main guard responded, 'Amen., The guard then present arms, the officer kisses the hilt of his sword and the keys are deposited in the Lieutenant's lodgings. After this all ingress or egress is impossible. It sometimes happens that strangers visiting the pile do not get out before the time comes for locking up. In that event they may have to sleep—or keep awake—on benches in the guard room.

Frost in the Cellar.

While it is true that all kinds of fruit and vegetables will keep better in a cellar with the temperature as near freezing as may be without injury, it is also desir able that there be proper protection afforded to prevent the entrance of frost when there is a season of protracted and severe cold. Without some protection, at such times frost is liable to enter unawares, and do much mischief to both fruit and vegitables. In olden times it was believed to be neccessary to 'bank up the house' with earth, but this practice has given way to one equally as effective and much easier, and that is by the use of leaves. Set boards or planks up on their edges a little distance from the underpinning, supported by stakes driven in the ground, and then cover all the intervening space as compactly as possible with leaves, and all the protection neccessary will be afforded. If the cellar becomes too warm at any time the temperature can be reduced by ventilators when cold weather is approaching, rather than to take chances without protection.—N. E. Farmer.

California Rainfall.

Careful records prove that the rainfall of California about every six or seven years shows a remarkable shrinkage, amounting to nearly half. Taking the cycle of six years, the average rainfall is quite constant, but there is some increase. The San Fancisco Bulletin says: "The number of years which have elapsed since the last drouth is seven, and it will be seen that drouths have come in either six or seven years. The evident increase in the yearly rainfall is attributed to the influence of the increased cultivation of the soil, and the large number of trees which have been planted in different parts of the State, and which are now beginning to exercise the effect which they always have upon the quantity of rain falling."

A Model Newspaper.

The Oil City Blizzard, prints the following original notice at the head of editorial columns: Ground out every week-day afternoon and inflicted on the dear people, through Uncle Sam's mail, or by a male carrier. Money will not be received in advance, unless it is genuine. The acceptance of United States money made a speciality. No cord wood or hay taken in payment for subscription. We burn coal, and can't eat hay. Young eggs will be taken in exchange for old papers. Parties who pay for the paper in advance will not be required to take it unless they wish to do so. There is no law compelling a man to persecute himself. Matter intended for publication should be written on paper. When chiseled on a marble slab, or printed on a board, the copy becomes cumbersome, and creates a of feeling of dispondency on the part of the compositors. N. B.—Write on only one side of the paper at a time. Advertisers who wish to talk business can learn our rates by calling on us at Blizzard headquarters, in the opera house block. The door opens inward. We reserve the right to reject any and all advertisements that would fill more than four pages of the paper. Communications addressed to "The Blizzard, Oil City, Pa," will stand a good chance of reaching us. Correspondents at the north pole will please have their letters translated by some visiting American before mailing.

Doing good is the only certainly happy action of a man's life.

Comfort for late Risers.

The ethics of good sleep should form a part of household morality. It is hardly an extravagant assertion that comparatively few people, after childhood is passed, know by experience what perfect sleep is, and satisfy themselves with a poor apology for this most perfect refreshment. Rising tired and weary from a disturbed, imperfect sleep, they proceed to summon up lost energies by strong tea or coffee, which in its turn again interferes with perfect rest at night, and this process of life, more than any mental or physical labor, wears women out and makes them prematurely old. "I have been reading myself to sleep after retiring," said a woman the other day; "and when I have done this for two or three nights I can see that I look five years older." It is an experience that any woman can verify, and, conversely, she can see that sleeping in a perfectly dark and well-ventilated room brings back the contour and the roses of childhood or early youth.

The most perfect sleep is obtained by carefully closing the blinds, raising and lowering the windows to admit plenty of pure air, and drawing down the heavy shades, thus making the room perfectly dark. Then, on going to bed, go there to sleep, not to write or read, or think or plan, but for that most valuable of all things, the foundation of all activity and energy—perfect sleep. A few nights of this experienced will, work a magic transformation in looks and feelings.

Above all, let us divest ourselves of a traditional prejudice that there is somehow virtue in early rising. When early sleep is obtained, early rising is indicated by nature by waking; but artificially produced it is pernicious. Unless there is an exceptional reason, it is far wiser to sleep till one wakens naturally, and one hour then will do the work of three when one comes to it tired—unfreshed. "Nature's sweet restorer" is of all things the most invigorating.

The Result of James Nutt's Trial foretold by a Dreamer.

Fred Joyce, of Youngstown, Ohio, who is regarded as the champion dreamer, claims to have dreamed a couple nights ago of the Nutt trial, the vision carrying him clear through the case. The trial, he says, will last two weeks, will be full of sensations and altogether will be one of the most noteworthy murder trials on record. The pleas on either side will be the finest ever delivered by man. The charge of the Judge will be evenly balanced and the jury will go out, while scores of ladies will pray aloud for the prisoner. In just forty-five minutes after the jury retires a verdict of not guilty will be rendered. There will then be great manifestations of joy in Pittsburg and young Nutt will be feted, dined and loaded with presents. He will remain in Pittsburg four days after his acquittal and will then return home.

"A GREAT SENSATION."

Among publishers, manufacturers and business men, many inducements have been offered to the public for the purpose of promoting the introduction of various papers, or articles, but not one of them equals the extraordinary chance offered by The World Magazine. In enlarging the circulation of their widely-known and splendid monthly publication, they agree to send you The World Magazine for one year at the low rate of $1, and will mail it postage free to you. This offer is an exceedingly rare one, as at this price The World will cost less than ten cents per copy. HUMOROUS.

"Husband, you'll have to go and call that boy yourself. I can't make him get up. He sleeps as if he were a log." "Oh, well, Maria, the boy can't help it. It's fate. He was born to be a policeman."

"Been down to Tugstrap's stable. I tell you he's got some splendid horse flesh in it." "Has he? Wonder he doesn't put some of it on that pair of frames he had out this morning."

At the bank: "I have a note here that's due to-day. I'd like to get the time extended, as I haven't any money." "We cannot possibly let it go over." "That is, I have the money, but—" "All right, I guess we can accommodate you. If you've got the money it's quite a different thing."

Among the reasons urged by a Peoria, Ill. woman for a divorce are: Drunkeness, swearing, obscenity, arson, filthy habits, incompatibility, infidelity, brutality, laziness, bigamy, and non-support. She married him to spite her father for boxing her ears.

They were talking about music and the drama at the table of their host, who, as they were already well aware, owed his fortune to his own unaided exertions. "You are fond of Rossini?' asked one of the guests. "Passionately," replied the host. "Know his 'Barber'?" "No, sir; I do not; never patronized the man. Have shaved myself for the last forty years.

"Dont you think, husband, that you are apt to believe everything you hear?" "No, madam, not when you talk.'

'Have you ever seen a mermaid, captain?' asked a lady on board the Margate boat. 'I've seen a good many fish women, madam, if that's what you mean,' was the reply.

EXERCISE.—Said a young doctor to a lady patient: 'You must take exercise for your health, my dear.' 'All right,' she said; 'I'll jump at the first offer.' They were married about six months afterward.

A CHICAGO PARTINGTON.—An Indiana Avenue lady dropped in on one of her neighbors for an afternoon call. "How is your daughter?" she inquired. "Splendid. She has just got back from the State Normal School, where she ciphered clear through from ambition to chemical fractures, and then she took up pottery and jobbery, and says she can speculate the internal calculations."

The following curious incident actually occured recently: Whilst a clergyman was in the midst of his sermon a person entered the church and in the coolest manner possible sauntered up the aisle. No sooner had the preacher's eye lighted on the new-comer than dropping the thread of his sermon he said to him, 'Come in, my friend, come in; we are always glad to see those here late who can't come early.' The unknown individual stepped forward, coolly took his seat, and then as coolly asked the preacher, 'Would you oblige me with the text?' 'Certainly.' was the reply, and the request having been complied with, the sermon proceeded.

SCHOTT AND NOTT.—A duel was lately fought in Texas by Alexander Shott and John S. Nott. Nott was not shot, and Shott was not. In this case it is better to be Shott than Nott. There was a rumor that Nott was not shot, and Shott avows that he shot Nott, which proves either that the shot Shott shot at Nott was not shot, or that Nott was shot notwithstanding. Circumstantial evidence is not always good. It may be made to appear on trial that the shot Shott shot shot Nott, or, as accideuts with firearms are frequent, it may possible that the shot Shott shot shot Shott himself, when the whole affair would resolve itself into its original elements, and Shott would be shot, and Nott would be not. We think, however, that the shot Shott shot shot not Shott, but Nott; anyway, it is hard to tell who was shot.

The Times has a lengthy account, probably sensational, that a strong movement is under way to elevate Hon. Henry B. Payne, the new United States Sanator from Ohio, to the Presidency of the United States. But wether sensational or not Mr. Payne would be a good man for the place.

Mr. Charles H. Shriner, now of Dixon, Ill. but for many years a prominent citizen and politician of Union county, is out in the papers in a letter giving the tariff history of the state during tbe memorable period of 1842, and down to the present time. It affords interesting reading to those who enjoy it.

While the possibility of Andrew Curtin getting the democratic presidential nomination this year was doubtless ended wheu Mr. Curlisle was elected speaker, the talk about his candidacy still continues in Washington. A correspondent of the Wheeling Intelligencer says that the Tariff Democrats in the East may take him up as their candidate in opposition to McDonald, the representative of the Free trade Democrats in the West.—Philadelphia Press.

"Randolph Tucker, of the Judiciary Committee, impresses you as one of the ablest men on the Democratic side. He is sixty years old, tall, straight, good-looking, a fine lawyer, a brilliant orator, and a good story-teller, a gentleman, wears good clothes and gold-bowed specs, and is a credit as well as an ornament to his side of the house."

The Memphis Avalanche stops to remark that "Democratic Presidential candidates come and go, but Hancock will go all summer. A score or more like Cleveland, Pattison, Butler, Holman, &c., have come and gone on to oblivion. Timber is getting scarce. And now we have Carlisle, Morrison and McDonald. They, too, will pass on and out in a few weeks. But steady on the front stands that sturdy old soldier, the sagacious statesman, Winfield Scott Hancock." So say we, all of us.

Governor Hoadly of Ohio, on assuming the duties of his office made some important recommendations to the legislature and the people. He suggested the creation of a board of pardons, the establishment of a graded license system and the regulation and equalization of the fee system for county officers. In these suggestions the new governor demonstrates that he has decided views on questions of local government and will not hesitate to give them utterauce. He is a democrat and will guard the rights of the the people of his state zealously, according to the creed of his party. With the inauguration of Governor Hoadly public profligacy will cease in Onio, and that fact is not the least of the happy incidents which will distinguish his administration.

M. Roustan, the new French Minister to Washington, is about forty-eight years of age. He has held many consular posts, and in 1881 was appointed Ambassador to Tunis. He was a conspicious actor in the recent events in that country, and the success of French diplomacy in the dealings with the Bey is due almost entirely to his firmness and sagacity.

A Presidential Cabinet Album.

The bureau of engraving and printing is just completing its addition to the cabinet album for the present administration. It is a custom for the bureau to prepare fine steel engravings of each president and his cabinet. These engravings are the highest style of art, and when bound in corresponding style make a handsome and unique volume. The book thus made contains the portraits of each president and his cabinet from Washington down, also views of the White House, capitol, etc. Only a sufficient number of copies are made to present the president and members of the cabinet with one each and retain one copy at the bureau of printing and engraving. The volume is a very interesting one, and of course quite rare, for, although there have been 21 presidents and212 cabinet officers since the beginning of presidents and cabinets in1789, the number is very small in a nation of 50,000,000, and the habit of printing these books only dates back half that time.

No Reason for Slashing Things.

Fair trade and revenue reform are what the democrats contend for. They mean to be just to capital as well as to labor. We have needlessly increased taxation and disastrously stimulated industrial production by perpetuating the war tariff. We should, therefore, carefully revise and reduce it, but that obligation does not imply that we should go blindly to work with sledge and axe. It is not neccessary to cut off a man's head in order to cure the toothache.

Congress and the Mormons.

The discussion of the Mormon question has already begun in the Senate at Washington, the basis of the discussion being the bill introduced by Senator Cullom, of Illinois. The utter collapse and failure of all the reforms proposed under the Edmunds act invites prompt Congressional action. Mr. Cullom's bill provides for the abolition of the present Territorial government of Utah and the substitution in its place of a Governor and Council of Nine, to be appointed by the President and confirmed by the Senate.

That some effective method of dealing with the Mormon question is needed no one will deny. The evil of polygamy is growing rapidly year by year and unless firmly and promptly suppressed will soon have become established as a custom sanctioned by the laws and practices of a soverign State. Converts to Mormonism are being recruited by the thousand among the more ignorant classes in the various European States. The little cloud, no bigger than a man's hand at first, is spreading not only over one Territory, but over half a dozen. It should be allowed to spread no further.

There is very little force in the argument that laws for the supression of polygamy interfere with the exercise of a religion. Polygamy is a crime against an existing law, not a religion. That law is defied by the Mormons. The government has but one thing to do, and that is to execute the law. Under the present Territorial Government this cannot be done, because the machinery for executing the law is in the violators of the law. If there is any possible method of taking the legal machinery out of the hands of those who defy the law and placing it in the hands of those who will execute it, it should be done.

The argument made by Senator Brown against the Cullom measure, on the ground of unconstitutionality, does not seem to be tenable. The Constitution of the United States expressly declares that Congress shall have power to dispose of and make all needful rules and regulations respecting the territory or other property of the United States. If one form of Territorial government is found to be inefficient, there seems to be no reason why another form may not be adopted. Under section 2 article 3 of the Constitution power is also given Congress to pass laws providing for the trial of these polygamists outside of the Territory in which the crime is committed, if it sees fit. Until the Territory has become a State the power of Congress in the premises is practically limitless, and Congress will be sadly deficient in its duty if it allows this Mormon ulcer to grow any larger before making an effective application of the knife.—Times.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan.24, 1884.

Somebody has called attention to the curious tact that it is unlucky for aspiring statesmen to build big houses in Washington, and the recent defeat of Mr. Pendleton seems to be a fresh illustration of this peculiar truth. In nearly every case, even as far back as Douglass and Breckinbridge, the public men who haye attempted a fine permanent residence here haye found it the erection of a mausoleum for their political hopes instead of a palace. Neither Sprague nor his father-in-law long enjoyed the stately mansion with its large grounds, at the corner of Sixth and E streets, which is now a boarding house. Attorney General Williams was one of the first to build a fine residence in the new part of the West End. The red lining of a carriage killed him not long after. Senator Steward built what is still called "The Castle" further out. It nearly burned down twice, and his family haye only occupied it for a short time lately. General Butler erected the well-known granite mansion on Capital Hill, which could cost no less than $100,000, just before he went out of national politics apparently "for good." Even the leasing of it seemed likely to prove almost equally fatal to the prosperity of Senator Jones, of Nevada. "Boss" Shepherd only completed his fine house about the time the return wave came to his fortunes and sent him to the Mexican mines and his house into the hands of a receiver. Mr. Robeson has not lived in his house; Mr. Blaine only a short time in his; Mr. Windom's was directly used as a campagne card against him; Senator Cameron has gone a road from his immense but somewhat gloomy pile, and his State has reared and kicked up against him; and now the near neighbor of those last mentioned has ruefully walked the plank in Ohio.

The investigation being conducted by Mr. Springer's committee into the affairs of the Department of Justice is developing a very interesting state of facts concerning various United States marshals. It appears that nearly every marshal has taken care to get a good deal of Government money in the way of fees, and that numbers of them are short in their accounts. Ex-Marshal Hall, of Pittsburg, it is said, made $150,000 unlawfully, and about a dozen others owe the Government from $10,000 upward. This is a nice state of facts which were not suspected outside of the Attorney General's office, and the curious part of it is in the indifference shown there and the utter lack of accountability or responsibility exacted by that department. It is said there will be some loud music when the investigation gets down to the Star-route trial and kindred matters. PHONO.

THROUGH A SEA OF FIRE.

The Awful Trip Of A Railroad Train Near Bradford.

Men, Women and Children Jumping From the Windows-Three Lives Lost and Many Persons Injured by Burning Oil.

SMITHPORT, Jan. 18.—A terrible accident occured on the narrow-guage railroad connecting this place with Bradford this morning. Along the line of the road are scattered numerous oil-wells and oil-tanks. About three miles this side of Bradford, on the upper side of the tank, stands a large tank owned by the Anchor Oil Company. It was full of oil, and, having partiallyburst, the escaping fluid ran down in a small river, covering the trackfor about 100 yards.

When the morning train going into Bradford came along the gas arising from the oil came in contact with the fire box, caused an explosion and set fire to the lake of oil through which the train was ploughing its way. The revolution of the wheels threw the burning oil over the cars, and in a moment they were enveloped in flames and suffocating smoke. There was but one passenger car attached to the train, containing about forty persons. The terrible heat disabled the engineer and fireman and they lost control of the train, which rushed down the grade, a whirling mass of fire, until it jumped the track.

The passenger coach was bottom side upwards when it was found. In the mean-time the passengers were terror stricken, their only avenue of escape being to jump from the windows. Three ladies who failed to escape were burned to death. Twenty-five or thirty are seriously burned and otherwise injured, many of them fataliy.

—If you want any sale bills printed come to this office. We will do your job quick, well and as cheap as any body else.

—Among many other good, clever fellows, Mr. Jos. K. Moyer, of Centre Mills showed his pleasant face in our office last week.

—Mrs. Brewer, of Lewisburg, aged ninety years, still makes her own calico dresses. Very few of that age can do any kind of work.

—An immense amount of rail road ties are constantly passing our office on their way to Coburn. This looks as if the road was to be extended.

—James C. Smith gives notice that he is the administrator of the estate of Hon. John Smith. James is entirely competent to do the business.

—WANTED, some ten to fifteen bushels of potatoes on subscription, as well as five to ten cords of wood will be received on subscription at this office.

—Mr. L. B. Stover bought the farm as well as the town property in Madisonburg, of the late Samuel Shafer, deceased, for $6100. Luther goes north instead of west.

—Benjamin and John J. Orndorf, administrators of John Orndorf's estate, will sell at public sale on Saturday, Jan. 19th, on the premises of decedent in Haines township a lot of household goods.

—Mr. J. Willis Musser has bought out the stage route from Woodward to Millheim, but also goes to Coburn every morning. He carries express and other goods from all points along the line at very moderate charges, and continues the calf and poultry business. tf

TO ALL WHOM IT MAY CONCERN.—We call the attention of our readers who may be in want of engineer's, architectural and carpenter work, to the fact that Mr. John Kerstetter, Jr., of Millheim is master of these trades and is in possession of the best recommendations to this effect. Give him a trial by all means. 1-4t

—In closing out my stock of organs, I offer $140 Cymbella organs for $117; $128 Cymbella organs for $105; and $115 for $83, and $78. Terms easy. Call on C. F. Gephart and buy a good organ cheap.

—We are sorry to learn of Mrs. J. W. Stoyer's illness. Hope it will not turn out to be a protracted case as she would be very much missed in the social circles of town.

—Our friend, Mr. B. F. Miller is again confined to the house, his disease having taken a new form. We very much wish to see him out again and assure him of our heartfelt sympathies.

—There will be an exhibition held in the town hall on Washingtons birthday in which our three schools will participate. So dame rumor says and for particulars we must wait a few weeks longer.

—Mr. S. R. Kamp, of Milton, has disposed of his jewelry store and entered into partnership with J. R. Smith & Co., the proprietors of the widely-known furniture establishment at that place.

AN OLD VETERAN GONE.—Johnny Barnes, the venerable toll keeper at Pleasant Gap departed this life at his residence on Thursday morning last. He was very old, probably 85 years, and was widely known and universally respected.

—The great revival meeting in the Evangelical church is still going on and is as successful as it possibly could be. No less than fifty persons have been converted so far and there are still a number seeking.

—A Mr. Barker, of Rebersburg, bought the house of Benj. Kerstetter, opposite the depot at Coburn and expects to start up a restaurant in Spring. There is a want of this kind in our rising neighboring town.

BETTER LATE THAN NEVER.—Mr. J. R. VanOrmer of Philadelphia has our thanks for that neatly and welcome Christmas present. Reese seems to know our weak points and remembers the poor printer by timely presents.

—Mr. Geo. Buck, who lately opened a photograph gallery in Millheim, spent Sunday last with his parents. He learned the art with Mr. J. W. Cornehus which is the best evidence that he thoroughly understands the "profesh."—Lewisburg Saturday News.

—Mr. E. W. Mauck showed us some very fine samples of wall paper. Edward has a large line of samples on hand and at the lowest prices. Parties who contemplate having work of this kind done will do well to call on him and examine his stock. tf

—Our Coburn correspondent was again too late last week which we much regret. Communications should reach us Monday, but must be in by Tuesday in order to secure insertion the same week. Sometimes no doubt the mails are at fault.

—On a visit to Coburn last week we dropped in to see Dinges, Vonada & Co's new store and were surprised at the general appearance of it. A splendid stock of goods in a spacious, orderly storeroom and three salesmen busy as beavers accomodating customers were the facts we noticed and that tells at once that they mean and do business.

TAKE NOTICE.—Mr. H. K. Luse hereby respectfully informs the public that he has a large lot of seed potatoes known as the "White Elephant Potato' for sale at his residence at Millheim. We are in possession of a basket full of these potatoes and can give them a warm recommendation as the best yielding potatoe in the market. If you are in need of any seed potatoes do not fail to call on him. tf

—Col. Jas. P. Coburn informs us that the Boards of the Penna. R. R. Co. and of the Lewisburg & Tyrone Co. held a joint meeting at Philadelphia on last Wednesday and that the right of way as well as grounds for depots have now been absolutely secured. Col. Coburn attended the meeting of the boards in person and does what in his power lays to further the interests of the road, for which he deserves the thanks of the people of the valleys.

RAID ROAD MATTERS.—It is said that track laying on the Bellefonte and Lemont road will begin as soon as spring opens. Both this road and the Lewisburg & Tyrone road are advertising for ties, which seems to indicate that both roads are to be pushed to completion.

—The Millheim Building & Loan Association closed its ninth year on Monday evening the 13th instant. Nominations were made for new officers and an auditing committee was appointed. The annual report will be distributed at the next monthly meeting, Feb. 11th when the election will also be held. It is thought the first series will nearly, if not altogethor have matured, and a new series of stock will be issued. Subscriptions for stock can be made at any time to the President, Secretary, Treasurer, or to any one of the Directors—J. W. Snook, S. K. Faust, S. D. Musser, J. O. Deininger, H. E Duck or J. B. Kreamer.

For nine years the Association has now been in successful operation and has more than met the expectations of its projectors and friends. It is an excellent institution for men of small means to buy or build homes on easy terms of payment and deserves to be well patronized.

—The trial of James Nutt ended at Pittsburg on Tuesday in the acquittal of the prisoner.

—J. W. Bartges of Penn Hall, has been presented with a handsome gold watch by a New York firm, for which he is traveling on business.

—Mr. J. A. Limbert of Aaronsburg will make sale of live stock and household goods on Saturday Feb. 16th. 1884 and expects to go west in the spring. Ho, for the West!

—On Saturday the 9th of February the public sale of the personal property of Jonathan Kreamer, late of Millheim, deceased, will take place in town. There will be sold some fine live stock, good farming implements, household goods and several shares of stock in different companies.

—Mr. Jacob Springer purchased the property on Main Street, occupied at present by H. H. Tomlinson's branch store of D. A. Musser for $900. That makes the third purchase for Springer; he seems to be of a speculating turn of mind.

ELECTION NOTICE.—And election for officers of the Millhem, Building & Loan Association will be held in the School house, Millheim, Monday evening Feb. 11th. A full turn out is requested,

By the board.
A. WALTER, Sec.

D., editor of the Lutheran Observer, Philadelphia, REV. J. W. GOODLIN, Salona, Clinton Co., Pa., and REV. W. H. SCHOCH, Jersey Shore Lycoming Co., Pa., will be present to deliver appropriate addresses. Services will be held Saturday evening, Feb. 9th and Sunday morning and evening, Feb. 10th.

A cordial invitation to attend these services is extended to neighboring ministers as well as to the public in general.

"THE BEE HIVE."—The mercantile business has of late years been brought to a system that lacks but little of perfection. The buying and selling is so well understood by our leading merchants as to insure the best results to the public, the most and best goods for the least money.

Among the best and most successful stores in this part of the state is the popular and widely-known BEE HIVE of Lock Hayen, Everett & Co. proprietors. For many years this house has controlled the leading dry goods trade of Clinton county, as well as a large part of Centre county, and even does a large trade up the West Branch into Cameron county. The reasons that the Bee Hive does such a flourishing business is apparent. The proprietors keep a full line of all kinds and grades of goods and so are able to suit all classes of people. They have but one price for all and that is the very lowest. Their clerks and salesmen are always clever and obliging to customers, whether they buy large or small bills.

We can cheerfully recommend our readers who visit Lock Haven to go to the Bee Hive in making purchases, for there they can always be suited. 2t

Echoes from Coburn.

The stock of boards in front of the planing mill is nearly all removed and business there is slackening somewhat.

Mr. Jacob Whitmeyer and Mr. Samuel Ulrich run opposition in hauling the largest and heaviest loads of pentents and converts to the protracted meeting in Millheim. We trust that the good fruits are in proportion to the loads.

Miss Lizzie Katherman, of Mifflinburg, book-keeper for Dinges, Vonada & Co., will attend Dr. Perkins' convention at Centre Hall next week.

Ice hauling is about done, but there is any amonnt of lumber and props being hauled to this place for shipment.

The topic of the day is a new paper mill to be erected at Coburn. But I am not able to give any particulars at this time.

A surprise party consisting of the following persons took possession of R. F. Vonada's premises on Friday evening: Mr. James Vonada and wife, Mr. William Walter, Mr. Wm. Benner, Miss Lydia Benner, Miss Sadie Katherman, Miss Addie Vonada, Mrs. Frank Yearick, Mrs. Jennie Yearick and Miss Reinhart, all of Woodward We understand they had a very pleasant time and were nicely entertained by the host and his lady.

SPRING MILLS ITEMS.

Broad Axe was froze up, but by good care is now all right again.

I. J. Grenoble on last Thursday took in about 2100 Bushels Grain here.

P. D. Philips is in the watch repairing business in Grenoble's Clothing Hall where he will be pleased to see his many friends.

Our Sabbath Schools are very well attended during the winter, considering the fact that we never had a school in the winter.

Mr. Luther Zeller who has been here visiting friends will go back to Ill. in a few weeks.

Madame Rumor says Jim—C—will get unto himself a helpmate ere long. Well Jim that is right and we advise all good young men to follow suit.

BROAD AXE

WOODWARD CHIPS.

Mr. Editor:—I have noticed in the Centre Democrat a correspondence from this place signed Fritzy. This brought me to the conclusion to send occasional items to the JOURNAL, of course subject to your better judgement. Should I send anything that may not suit drop it into the basket.

Dr. W. P. Ard has purchased the brick mansion now occupied by O. W. VanValin and expects to flit into it by the 1st of April, next. After that the doctor's shingle will hang out on Main street.

J. W. Musser has flitted back to Woodward again and is now snugly fixed in the house formerly occupied by Henry Musser. Git up George.

A party of twelve couples started from this place on Friday afternoon to an oyster supper at Geo. Winkelblech's. They had pleasant time there, but when they were ready to return one of their horses was found to be sick and had to be lifted up by means of a windlass. They succeeded to get home by Saturday morning about 8 o'clock. They all seemed to be pleased with their trip to Little Sugarvalley.

Our school teacher bought himself a skull cap after he had his ears frozen. Locking the stable after the horse is stolen.

Spirit Level can build a woodshed cheaper than anylody else in town. He says it only cost him 75 cento in money and much less in trade.

Rev. Wiest of Cleveland, Ohio, lectured here on Sunday evening to a crowded house He handled his subject "Love thy neighbor as thyself" so well that $53,50 were rased for the benefit of the heathens.

PEDRO.

Chips from Madisonburg.

The convention is past and monotony reigns once more in our little burg.

Dr. Reber had quite a fall last Saturday night, which resulted in a black eye.

Half civilized people should not be allowed to attend concerts and disturb people of better breeding.

On Saturday night the peace of our quiet town was disturbed by the brawlings of a drunken set of ruffians.

Prof. Riley of Jacksonville expects to start a writing school here in a few weeks. All persons deficient in the art should attend.

Miss Carrie Reber of Milton is here visiting friends and relations. Hope she may have a pleasant time.

The musical convention held in the town hall for the benefit of the Lutheran church of this place was indeed a succers. A large number of talented singers from a distance were present and a large class of home talent participated in the exercises. The music throughout was good and well rendered. The concerts on Friday and Saturday evenings were well attended and all seemed highly pleased with the performances.

The Rebersburg Cornet Band was present on Saturday evening and discoursed some of their choice music.

Prof. George Curns of Lock Haven as conductor of the convention proved that he is naturally qualified to develop musical talent and the productions by his class speak highly in his favor and give him the reputation of a successful instructor. Miss Fiedler also filled her position as organist very creditably and she can heartily be reccommended for all occasions of this kind as a first-class organist or pianist.

The number of persons who took an active part in the convention was 93 and a handsome sum was realized from the proceeds.

It was a pleasure to see so many Jacksonville folks present at our convention last week. The music rendered by them at our concerts was excellent. "The Italian band" was well received by the audience and the trio sung by Miss Shoemaker and the Beck brothers was highly appreciated. Should be pleased to have them call oftener. ANON.

Trading His Child for Rum.

HUNTINGDON, Jan. 15.—Wm. Hycks, of this city, whose sole object in living seems to be to gratify his insatiate desire for liquor, sold his little daughter, aged about twelve years to a laborer at the reformatory for the consideration of three drinks of whiskey. The child upon refusing to accede to the inhuman transaction when called for by the purchaser was mercilessly beaten by her brutal and drunken father. The community is greatly indignant over the fiendish and unprecedented act of a father who would make a commodity of his own flesh and blood.

MARRIED.

On the 13th inst., by Rev. W. K. Forster, Mr. E. E. Stambach and Miss Jennie Cronmiller, both of Aaronsburg.

DIED.

On the 7th inst., in Aaronsburg, Mrs. Rebecca Thomas, aged 72 years, 3 months and 23 days.

On the 11th inst., Penn township Mrs. Julian Mowery, aged 63 years, 10 months and 29 days.

On the 12th inst., in Haines township Mr. Samuel Yearick, 61 years, 10 months and 5 days.

HOUSEHOLD NOTES.

Set brooms away handle downwards.

Eat slowly and you will not over eat.

Brooms scalded once a week wear long.

To brighten glassware, rub it with soft paper.

For ventilation open your windows

Walking on carpets with protruding nails on shoes, digs off the nap fearfully.

Do not always keep your piano or organ closed if you want the keys to remain white.

The best way to sweep your best carpet, is to sprinkle first with dampened corn meal. It lays the dust and brightens the colors.

Easily made apple sauce:—Bake apples with pan over them, plenty water, pick out peel, mash the rest through colander, sweeten.

For burns and scalds alum water, apply immediately, keep well covered with saturated cloths. Cures in from one half to one hour, leaves no mark.

To wash greasy tin and irons.—Pour a few drops ammonia into every greasy pan, first half filling with warm water; a bottle of ammonia should always stand near the sink for such purposes.

Lamp chimneys will last a great deal longer, if, when new, they are put in a kettle of cold water with a handfull of salt, boil a couple of hours, then take off and let the chimney stand in it until cold. This process, I can say so from experience, toughens them very much.

The Philadelphia Times, 1884.

THE TIMES will enter upon the new year stronger and more prosperous than ever before in its history —more widely read and quoted, more heartily commended, and more fiercely criticised with a more complete organization, and an abler staff of contributors—and with the same independence and fearlessness that has made it successful and powerful in the past.

THE TIMES has no party to follow, on candidates to advance, but will meet every issue, as it has ever done, with consistent devotion to the right, to honest government, had the public welfare. And, while maintaning its position as the leading paper of Philadelphia, it will aim to be continually in advance in all that can add value to a newspaper.

The value of a newspaper is not in its size or display, but in the intelligence and care, the conciseness and freshness with which it is edited. THE TIMES spends laivshly for news from all parts of the world, but all its dispatches are carefully edited and condensed, in order to give the complete news of the day in the most concise and attractive shape, and with it a large variety of entertaining and instructive reading. The best writers at home and abroad are imployed to enrich its colums, and to make it a journal adapted both to the busy man and to the leisure of the home circle, a welcome visitor to intelligent and honest citizens of every political, religious, and social taste.

THE WEEKLY TIMES is altogether different from the weekly newspapers of twenty years ago. The telegraph and better local newspapers everywhere, especially in the thriving centres of rural population, have made the old weekly metropolitan newspaper unsatisfying. Those that cling to their ancient usages have lost their hold on our forward-moving people; they are but shadows of their former greatness, and they have but a shadow of their former power. Those papers have had their usefulness, but it is gone; and, with it, they are going, too. It was not the fault of papers: it was the improvement of the country that brought about the change. Men and women, wherever they live, now require fresher news; and they require more than news.

THE WEEKLY TIMES gathers off the types of every passing week whatever has lasting interests to people at large, and sets it before them in such generosity of paper and print as would have astonished us all twenty years ago.

DAILY—Twelve cents a week, fifty cents a month, $5 a year, two cents a copy.

SUNDAY—Four cents a copy, $2 a year.

WEEKLY—One copy, $2 a year; five copies, $8 a year; ten copies, $15 a year; twenty copies, $25 a year, with one copy free to the getter-up of every club.

THE TIMES,
Philadelphia.

DID YOU

ever read a patent medicine advertisement? Yes, say you; one can't pick up a paper now-a-days that is not one-half medicine advertisements. No doubt of it. Column after column of most wonderful cures performed on Jones and Brown away off somewhere.

But did you ever read of a manufacturer of a medicine who had the courage, or had sufficient confidence in his medicine himself to say. "if you are not cured or benefited go to where you bought the medicine and demand your money and it will be given to you."

You didn't? Well, neither did we; but there are such remedies nevertheless.

Are you troubled with torpid or disordered Liver, Inactive Kidneys, Dyspepsia, Constipation, &c., &c., use McDonald's improved Liver Pills—money refunded to dissatisfied purchasers.

Do you inherit Scrofula or Erisipilas? If so, try McDonald's Great Blood Purifier—money refunded to dissatisfied purchasers.

Do you want to feel secure from those frightful and oftimes fatal visitors, Croup and Whooping Cough, as well as having in the family the one incomparable cough medicine for all colds and lung troubles. Then buy Dr. Kessler's famous cough medicine—money refunded to all dissatisfied purchasers.

Do you want a whole Drug store in a little glass bottle: then secure at once, Curtis' Carmelite Cordial: the greatest medicine ever devised for Cholera, Dysentery, Diarrhoea, Cramps, &c. Never was equaled as a general family pain curer—money refunded to dissatisfied purchasers.

Have you reason, from symptoms exhibited, to suspect that any of your children are troubled with worms? If so, let me say to you, for smallness of dose, easiness to take, efficationsness, as a worm destroyer, McDonald's Celebrated Worm Powders have no equal on earth—money refunded to dissatisfied purchasers.

Have you a valuable horse for which you want a medicine to enrich the blood, improve the appetite, invigorate the system, make his coat glossy, eye bright and step elastic? Give him McDonald's Tonic and Blood purifying Horse and Cattle Powder. We don't think it possible to produce a better medicine for stock.

Don't use it unless your animal is sick and needs a medicine. If you want to use a stock powder for fun, buy somebody else's—Money refunded to dissatisfied purchasers.

J. Eisenhuth at his Drug store, in Millheim Centre county, Penna., keeps these remedies for sale and is authorized to refund the money to any dissatisfied buyer. Now ask yourself the question, can I afford to place a humbug before you under the above conditions, or would a druggist of J Eisenhuth's standing and reputation be likely to have these medicines in his store, much less recommend them, if they were not medicines of merit.

DOWNS' ELIXIR.

N. H. DOWNS'
Vegetable Balsamic
ELIXIR

For the cure of
Consumption, Coughs, Colds, Catarrh, Croup, Asthma, Pleurisy, Hoarseness, Influenza, Spitting Blood, Bronchitis, and all diseases of the Throat, Chest, and Lungs. In all cases where this Elixir is used its efficacy is at once manifested, convincing the most incredulous that is not incurable, if properly attended to.—At its commencement it is but a slight irritation of the membrane which covers the Lungs; then an inflamation, when the cough is rather dry, local fever, and the pulse more frequent, the cheeks flushed and chills more common. This Elixir in curing the above complaints, operates so as to remove all morbid irritations and inflamation from the lungs to the surface, and finally expel them from the system. It facilitates expectoration.

It heals the ulcerated surfaces and relieves the cough and makes the breathing easy. It supports the strength and at the same time reduces the fever. It is free from strong opiate and astringent articles, which are of so drying a nature as to be in great danger of destroying the patient; whereas this medicine never dries or stops the cough, but, by removing the cause, consequently, when the cough is cured the patient is well. Send address for pamphlet giving full directions, free.

Price 35 cts., 50 cts., and $1.00 per bottle.

DR. JOHN BULL'S
Smith's Tonic Syrup
FEVER and ACUE
Or CHILLS and FEVER,
AND ALL MALARIAL DISEASES.

The proprietor of this celebrated medicine justly claims for it a superiority over all remedies ever offered to the public for the SAFE, CERTAIN, SPEEDY and PERMANENT cure of Ague and Fever, or Chills and Fever, whether of short or long standing. He refers to the entire Western and Southern country to bear him testimony to the truth of the assertion that in no case whatever will it fail to cure if the directions are strictly followed and carried out. In a great many cases a single dose has been sufficient for a cure, and whole families have been cured by a single bottle, with a perfect restoration of the general health. It is, however, prudent, and in every case more certain to cure, if its use is continued in smaller doses for a week or two after the disease has been checked, more especially in difficult and long-standing cases. Usually this medicine will not require any aid to keep the bowels in good order. Should the patient, however, require a cathartic medicine, after having taken three or four doses of the Tonic, a single dose of BULL'S VEGETABLE FAMILY PILLS will be sufficient.

BULL'S SARSAPARILLA is the old and reliable remedy for impurities of the blood and Scrofulous affections—the King of Blood Purifiers.

DR. JOHN BULL'S VEGETABLE WORM DESTROYER is prepared in the form of candy drops, attractive to the sight and pleasant to the taste.
